WHY BOOZIN' ALONG?

Our famous, one and only "indoor boat bar" is a true replica of an actual 58-foot Chesapeake Bay Buy Boat. The name of this now Historic Landmark, "The Nelly Crocket," owned by Ted and Mimi Parish, is currently anchored in Georgetown, Maryland. The name "Boozin' Along" originated back in our early opening days of the 1970s. It was thought that when you sat around our bar, either alone or with friends, you felt like you were just "Boozin' Along." The name was painted on the stern until we changed it to "The Boat House" in the mid-90s. When this newsletter was created, the name "Boozin' Along" came alive again...because the more times this publication is distributed, the more you know, that we at Campbell's Boat House are continuing to "Booze Right Along." Now in our 3rd generation, we are proud to be serving you for over 34 years! For more information regarding our history and story, visit our website!

A NEW LOOK

Everyone loves a spectacular beach front view. But it is not every day that you have the opportunity to experience it. We, at Campbell's Boat House, have made it all possible. Think of a giant postcard with a magnificent, magnified, landscape view of Victorian Cape May Beach. Local artist Jim McKay, brings this beautiful scenery to life with his carefully hand-crafted touches. McKay has worked on art creations all over Delaware County, including Maggie O'Neils Irish Pub, St. Gabriel's Catholic School, and City Team Ministries. His latest mural, exclusive to The Boat House, depicts the 1920s era in Cape May, NJ— the Historic Cape May Christian Admiral Hotel (demolished in 1996), the original Convent (vacation home for more than 300 nuns), the original Cape May Lighthouse (with over 300 steps), and the Three Mastered "Schooner Atlantic," (the fastest sailboat to cross the Atlantic Ocean) that was moored in Cape May Harbor for over 50 years. Located on the starboard (right) side of our boat bar, this classic creation is a "must see" the next time you are in "The Boat."

CREW SPOTLIGHT

Often times when our customers read our menu, they ask, "Who is Jeannie?" or "How long has she been here?"

So in honor of Mother's Day, we shine the spotlight on the ultimate "Mother of The Boat House."

Ms. Jean Belgrave is one of the original cooks when The Boat House opened. Today, she is still wowing customers with her homemade specialties.

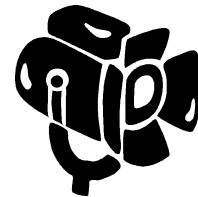

Jean is a staple at the Boat House, best know for her selection of over 25 homemade soups, spicy chili, shrimp salad, and rice pudding. If you have never tried one of her specialties, you don't know what you've been missing!

Jeannie is the backbone of the kitchen and has been part of our Boat House family for many, many years.

Her days are spent prepping, ordering, organizing, stirring, spicing, all while listening to her favorite jazz music station in the background.

Jean enjoys traveling and is very active in her church. She resides in Media, PA with her daughter and grandchildren.

Next year, marks two huge milestones for Jean. She will celebrate a remarkable 40 years with "The Boat," along with her 70th birthday!

Thank you Jean! We love you!
